Three things

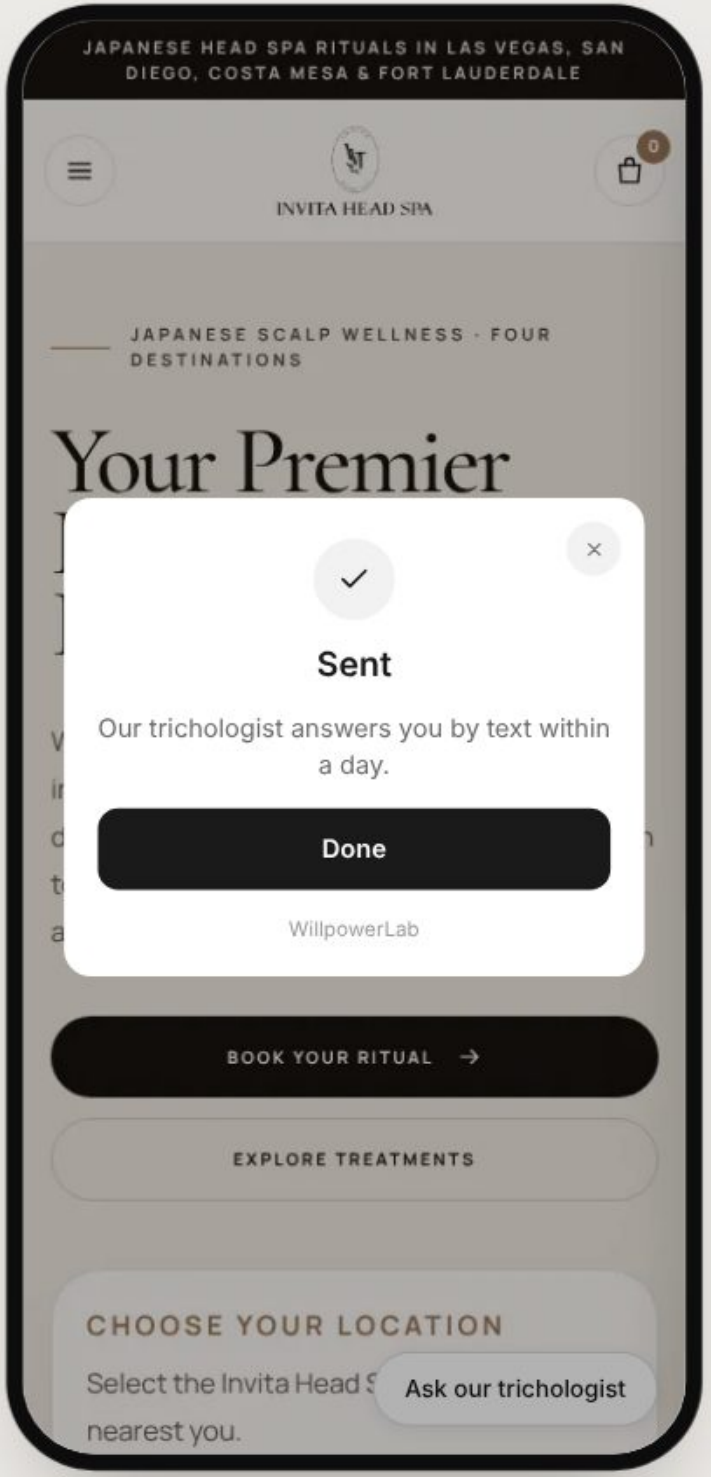

A photo, a number, a tick. A few words are optional. Send is grey until all three are there.

Nothing else on the site

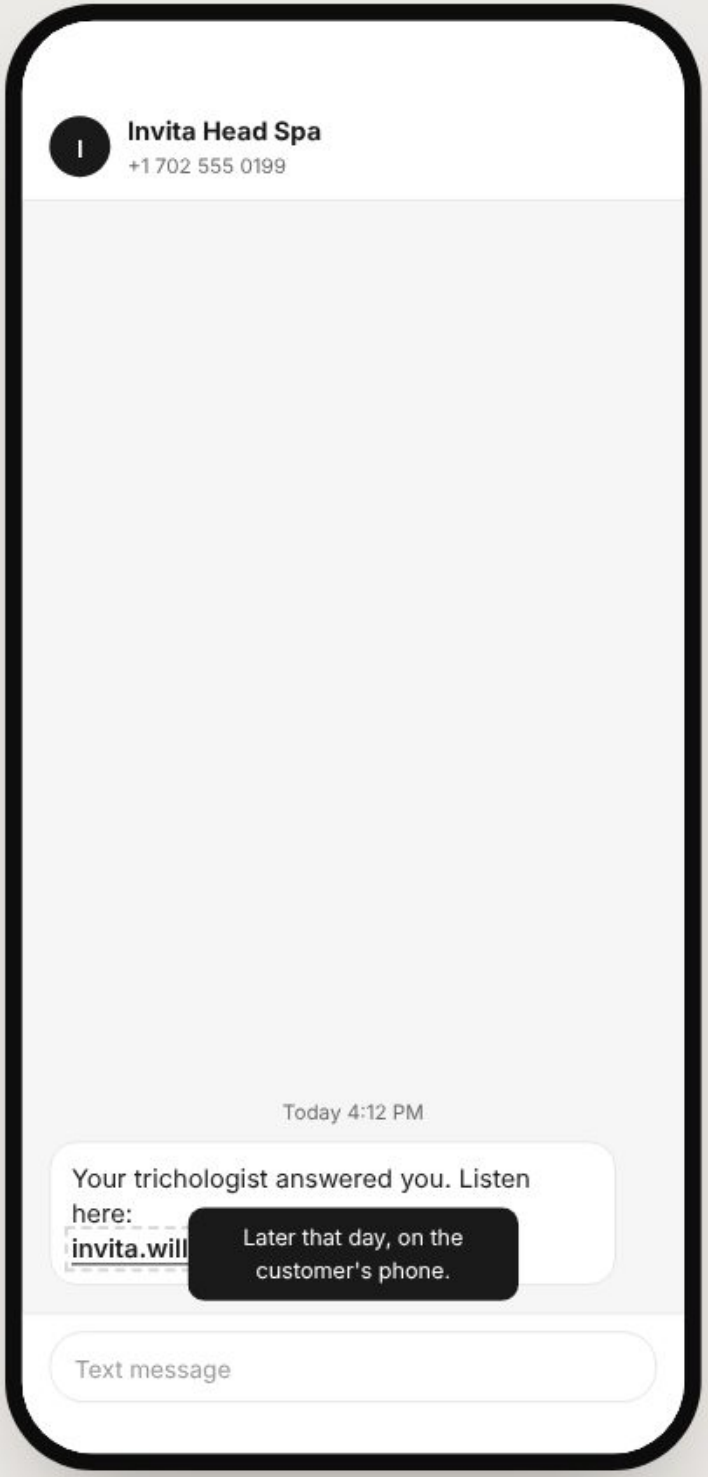

The request is now in the trichologist's chat in the app. Done takes the customer back to the page; the prototype jumps to later that day.

From Invita's number

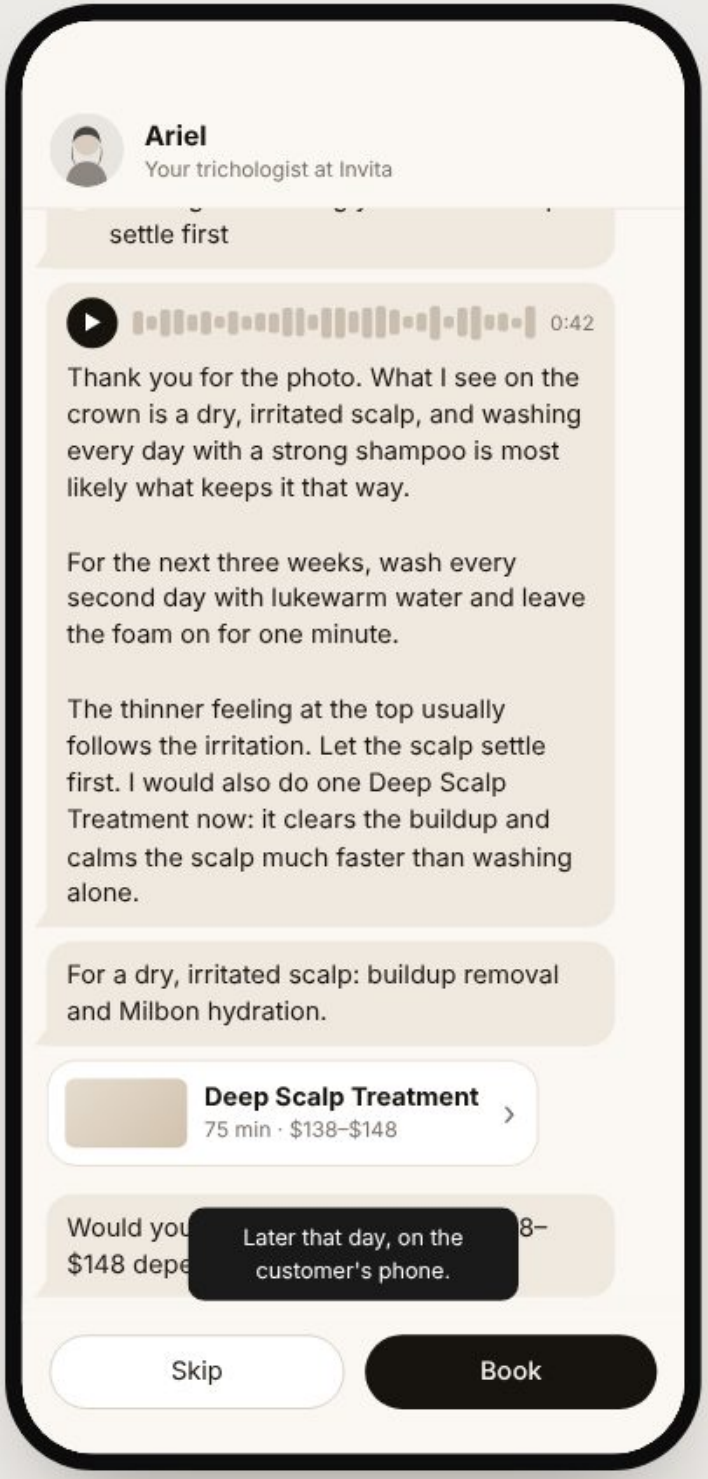

One line and a link. The audio is never sent as a file: the link always opens the latest answer.

The app's chat, in Invita's colours

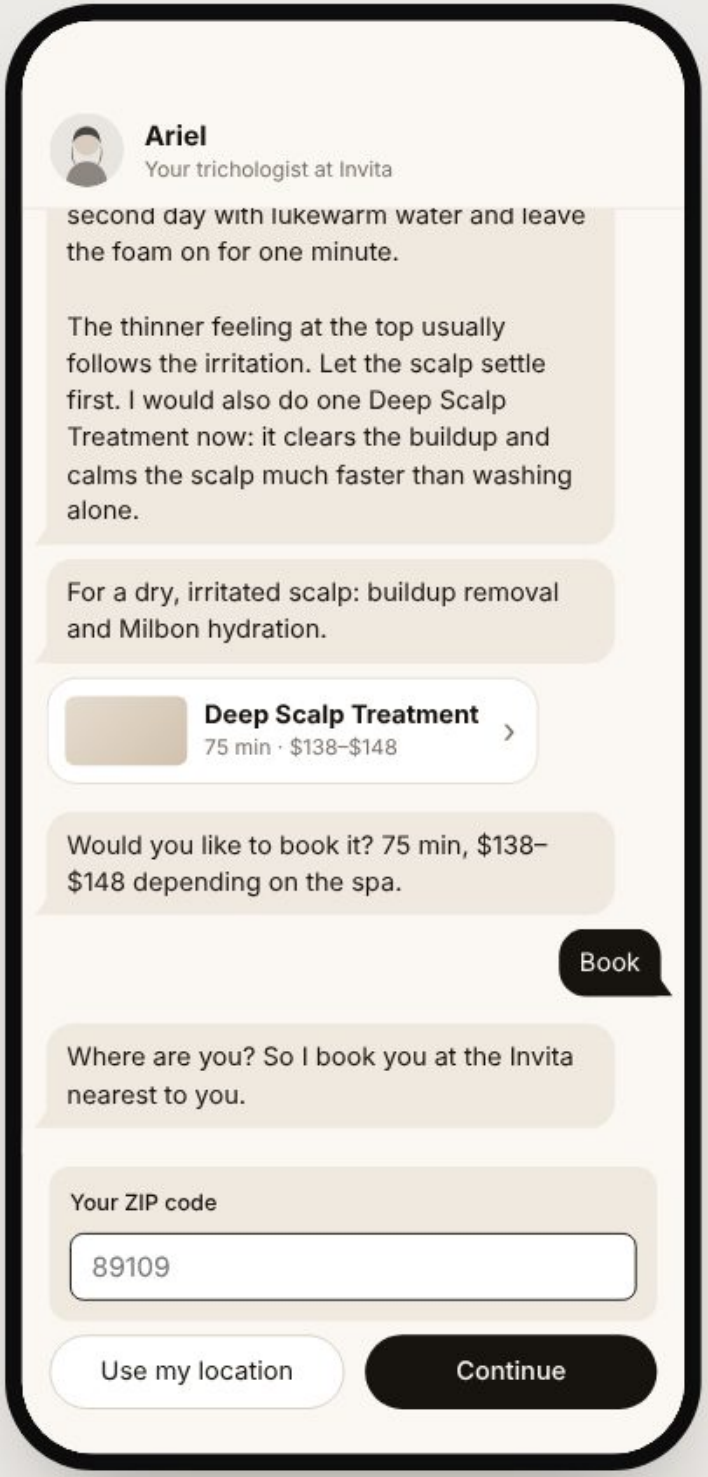

What you asked, as your bubble. Then Ariel: the routine, her voice and full answer, why the treatment, and the treatment as a card you can tap, with its real price. Her ask sits in the footer as the app's two equal buttons: Skip, Book.

One question at a time, in the thread

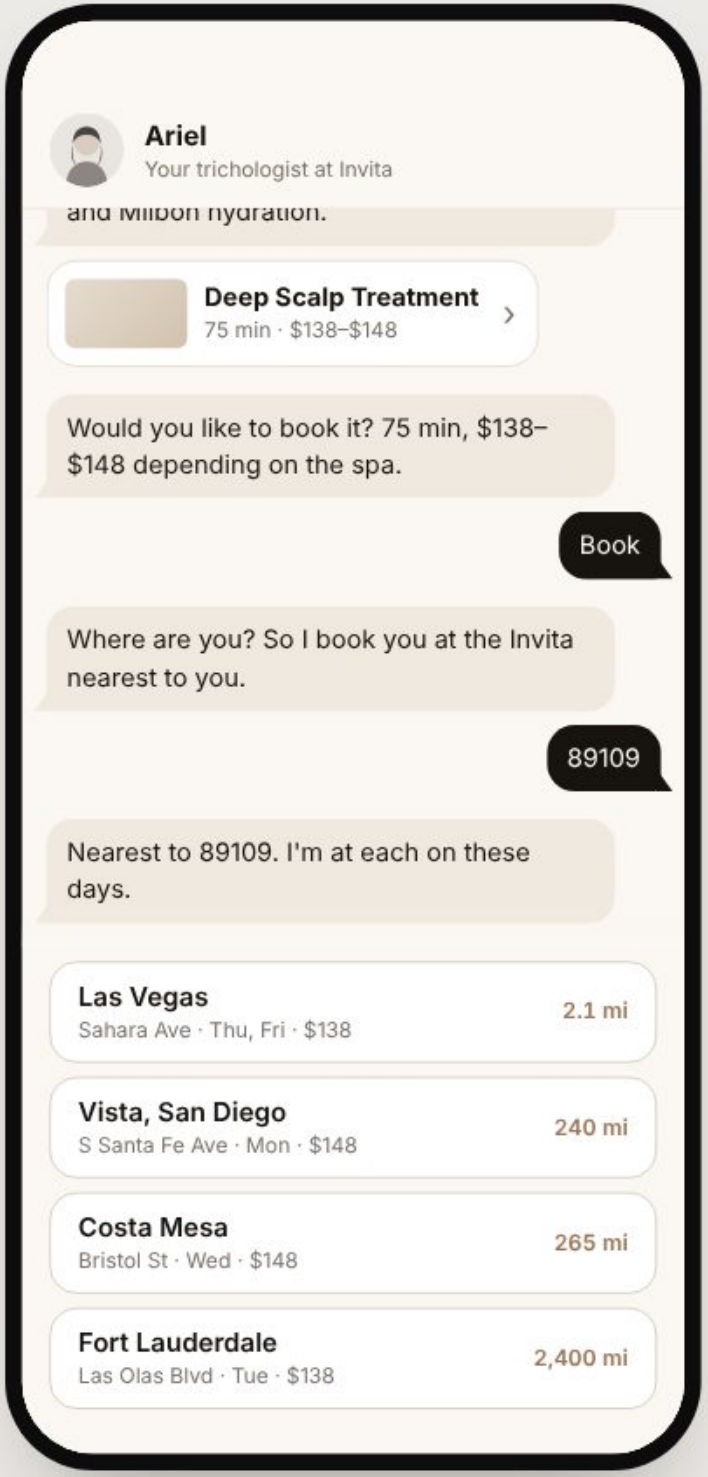

ZIP in a grey card in the footer, or Use my location. The four spas nearest first, with Ariel's days and each spa's price. The day. Then a summary to Confirm or Change. Every answer lands as your bubble.

Always open

Type, add a photo, or record a voice message. It reaches Ariel's chat in the app; she answers here later, typed or as a Take. No instant answers until a model answers alone (N225, N228).
